PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.—We expected to have placed this anxiously looked for document before our readers, early this morning, but have been disappointed.—After waiting until the mail arrived this morning, at 1 o'clock, we received information that the Message was not to be delivered until Wednesday last—of course, it will not be received here until to morrow night. We will, therefore, not publish it until about our usual hour, on Monday.

The Governor's Message.—We expect to place this document before our readers to morrow at about the usual time.—The Governor of Pennsylvania seems, for once, to have got in advance of the President. We trust that this occurrence is ominous of a great change, and that Pennsylvania is no longer to follow in the wake of the politicians of other States.—She is the first state of the union in natural advantages, in wealth, and internal improvements, and ought to lead, rather than blindly follow as she has heretofore done.

Extract of a letter, dated

"WASHINGTON, Dec. 2, 1833.

In calling over the names of members, to ascertain whether a quorum were present, the clerk was brought to a pause before he reached Kentucky. Mr. Allen, of Ky., then brought to the consideration of the members, the irregularity of the return from the 5th Congressional District of Kentucky, by which it was certified that Mr. Moore was duly elected, after some discussion. It was proposed by Mr. Letcher, that the contending members withdraw from the house and await its organization, when the contest could then be decided without further interruption of the business, preparatory to an organization of the house, this course was adopted—the clerk then finished calling over the names of members, a large quorum was present, and the house proceeded to ballot for Speaker, Stevenson had 142, Williams, of North Carolina, 39, and Everett, of Massachusetts, 15, Bell 4, Wilde 2.

Extract of a letter to the editor, dated

"HARRISBURGH, Dec. 3, 1833.

The Certificates of the election of the members having been gone through, the House adjourned until 3 o'clock, and proceeded to the election of Speaker. On the4th Ballot, Mr. Finley, having 62 votes, was inducted into office. The Message will probably be transmitted to morrow, which I shall forward you by the Mail.

From the New York Courier and Enquirer.

WASHINGTON, (D. C.) Nov. 29.

Sir,—There is now, I have no doubt, a quorum of members in the city. A system of drilling has been in active operation during the week. Great and unceasing efforts are making to pledge the newly elected gentlemen, on two points.

First—The removal of the present Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Second—The violation of the contract between Gales & Seaton, as printers of the first part, and the Congress of the United States of the second part.

The attack upon the Clerk of the House is a cunning movement; and the absence of a distinguished public functionary has led some to the conclusion that he is the mover of it. In drilling, two arguments are used against the present incumbent. They are administered to different classes of men. The first is, that it is important to have a clerk of the House, known as the open and decided friend of Mr. Van Buren. The second is, that the gentleman who now fills that office is independent in his pecuniary circumstances, and should, therefore, make room for one who is not. All the friends of the Vice President, with two or three exceptions, will vote for the new candidate. Those exceptions are to be quoted, in case of defeat, as evidence that there was not a concert in action. If the plan succeeds, it is to be blazoned forth as conclusive that the House is a Van Buren House.—Notwithstanding the exertion of the Kitchen Cabinet, they will, in my opinion, be defeated. But it would not surprize me if they succeeded.

In relation to Gales & Seaton, I will say, that I consider it not only improbable but impossible that a majority of the House of Representatives can be induced to violate a solemn written contract, between the government and a private citizen.—And yet, strange as it may appear to you, the Kitchen Cabinet promise themselves success. The contemplated removal of the clerk is adroit, because there is little to hazard and something to gain: But the proposition to violate an admitted contract, regardless of right or wrong, is as bold as it is unwarrantable, and can result in nothing honorable or advantageous, as a party measure.—I forbear comments. They cannot be made by me in terms of decorum.

There has been some floundering in consequence of my reference to the affairs of the post office. I have not told you one quarter of the story. Money has not only been borrowed in your city, but in Boston, and of the banks in Pennsylvania.

I do not believe, from the statements I have seen, that much less than one million of dollars could pay the borrowed money and the contracts of the Department due this month. The present embarrassment of the post office, explains a case that was not understood by the last Congress, but to which I will briefly refer. An application was made for an appropriation for extra clerk hire, to a large amount, which, it was said, had been actually paid within two years. The reply was, if the department has really paid this money, and is not deficient in funds, why so much importunity, at the heel of the session, for this appropriation? No satisfactory explanation was given, but the bill was hurried through, and became a law.—There is another curious fact. In July, 1832, a statement was made out, tending to prove that the department was in a flourishing condition. In October, 1832, it was ascertained, that whatever might be the appearance on paper, practically the estimates did not come out right. An examination ensued. An error was discovered, and the surplus of $212,000, exhibited in the July statement, vanished into "thin air." And yet, with a knowledge of this fact, Congress were assured that all was well.—The Spy in Washington.

UNITED STATES BANK.

It is the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury, to assign reasons to Congress, for the removal of the public deposits from the U. S. Bank. They were placed there by law, and Congress declared at its last session, that they were in a place of perfect safety—but, notwithstanding this explicit declaration, the President has thought proper to "assume the responsibility" of their removal, and his Secretary has now to justify the act to Congress. For this purpose it will not be sufficient to reiterate the ridiculous fabrications about purchased or bribed editors, or the contemptible falsehood that the whole funds of the institution have been placed under the control of the President of the Bank, for electioneering purposes. These things may do very well for the columns of the Globe, where nothing that is scandalous, false, or malignant, can come amiss; but the Secretary will hardly hazard the experiment of trifling with Congress by allegations unsupported by evidence, and bearing the stamp of improbability upon their very front. He must show, not only that there has been mismanagement of the concerns of the Bank, but that that mismanagement has endangered the safety of the public funds. Less than this will not be a justification of their removal.

Opening of the New York and Paterson Rail Road.—Yesterday, the rout of this road, which is now complete from Paterson to the Bergen Ridge, was thrown open, and traversed by a large party invited by the directors of the company to witness the successful accomplishment thus far of their labors. Leaving Powels Hook about half past nine o'clock in stages, we were rapidly conveyed to the ridge, distant about two miles and a half, where cars drawn by horses were in waiting. In and on these—for they are constructed to carry outside as well as inside passengers—the party, reinforced by many gentlemen of New Jersey, who there joined them, proceeded leisurely, that is at the rate of about ten miles an hour, along the road. It passes for about five miles over the Newark salt marshes, above which it is raised upon an average four feet, until after passing Berry's creek, when it begins to ascend at the rate of thirty five feet per mile, until the embankment reaches a height of eighteen feet. Great obstacles have been overcome in constructing this road: first, the carrying such an immense quantity of earth; the uncertain bottom in many spots; the number of small creeks, in addition to two large rivers, to be passed; and therefore the necessity of bridging to a great extent, and in such way as both to preserve the requisite level and to obtain the firmness and solidity of structure essential to safety. In all these respects, the company appear to us to have fully succeeded.

The bridge over the Hackensack, which is 1,700 feet long, and which traverses the river diagonally, received and sustained the cars, traveling at a round trot, as solidly as the earth itself; so well and securely is it braced in all its parts, and yet presenting to the eye a structure remarkable for lightness of appearance. The draw—the first level one we remember to have seen—is most ingeniously contrived. When the passage is to be opened, a moveable platform, of equal length with the draw, and constituting part of the road, is made to slip aside, and the draw takes its place. The machinery for effecting this is so simple that a single man can do the whole. The draw, over the Passaic, is lifted in a single piece; and, as that is necessarily very heavy, being near thirty feet long, and of strong and well secured timbers, it would seem to require no trifling mechanical force to move it; yet, by means of a weight, duly calculated, connected with the chains by which the draw is raised, but suspended at such a distance from the fulcrum as to furnish, as the bridge rises, a counterbalancing force to its weight, the whole mass is raised by a single man turning an ordinary crank.

After stopping at, and examining each of these bridges, the party proceeded to Paterson, where they spent some very agreeable hours. Having visited the falls, which happened to be even more picturesque than usual, by reason of the high water in the river, they partook of a collation at the office of the Company.—N. Y. Amer.

Emphatic.—The Richmond Complier, in commenting upon the Card of Mr. Duane, and his difference with the President, uses the following decided and consise language.—Poulson.

"Our venerable President who rarely has any change in his Cabinet, without involving himself in some personal quarrel with one or more of his Secretaries, has, as will be seen by the following Card, entangled himself with Mr. Duane, late of the Treasury Department. Jackson must be really a very ill humored fellow. During the short period of his administration he has gotten himself into very disagreeable scrapes with three States—both Houses of Congress, the Complier of the Annual Register only knows how often—the late Vice President—his first official printer—his own Secretaries—and we know not whom. He has exposed himself to personal insult from an officer of the Navy, whose indignant feelings would not suffer respect for the office which he held, to protect the individual who filled it! He has exposed himself to derision and defeat by his impotent attempts to avenge himself upon an editor, for his disappointment in being able to seize upon the person of another! He has violated the laws and insulted the justice of the country, by an attempt to punish a free citizen of the United States by means of civil process for an offence only properly examinable before a court of another; and for this purpose he has issued, by the proper officer, a warrant under circumstances which rendered it illegal, and for an amount at once oppressive and unjust!"

Boston, Nov. 30.—Dreadful Murder.—On Thursday night, a party of Irishmen, who had been dancing in the house of Rodgar M'Gowan, at the corner of Maine and Water streets, in Charlestown, and probably in a state of intoxication, upon the termination of the dance, provided themselves with pieces of fire wood, and sailed into the street. Upon coming out of the gate, they discovered Mr. Benjamin Daniells looking into the window. The whole party immediately attacked him; and he retreated about 80 or 90 feet towards the old bridge, on the opposite side of the street, where he was overpowered, and beaten on the back of the head till his skull was literally smashed in pieces. A woman, who heard the noise nearly under her window, on looking out discovered about a dozen men striking at the prostrate man, and fearing it might be her husband, who was out, she prevailed upon Mr. Aaron Center to go out and see if it was him. He accordingly went out, and, upon asking who it was they were beating, instantly received a severe blow on the arm. Regardless of the blow, however, he went to the man's assistance, and, in bending over to see if he knew him, received no less than eight cuts on the head; he then attempted to retreat—but, after walking a few steps, fell from weakness, occasioned by loss of blood. In the mean time, the assailants continued their assault on Daniells, until the watch and neighbors collected in some force, when the whole party ran over the bridge, to this city. The wounded men were then taken up. Center was soon brought to, but Daniells died about 6 o'clock yesterday morning. A short time previous to the affray, he was seen in a cellar near by, which he left to go to his home, on the Salem turnpike, and his attention was probably drawn to the house by the noise of the inmates. He was a blacksmith, aged 36 years, and has left a widow, but no children. Mr. Center is able to sit up, and will probably recover.—We have not learnt that any one has yet been arrested, but energetic efforts will undoubtedly be made to bring the murderers to justice.—Post.

Singular Disclosures.—About six years ago a package of $16,000, belonging to S. & M. Allen, was mysteriously abstracted from a North River steam boat. From some cause or other one of the parties to the robbery has recently made a disclosure, in Boston, of all the circumstances, by which it appears that one of three or four accomplices, all being on the look out for plunder, adroitly took the package from the captain's office. The money was subsequently apportioned among them. One of them bought an extensive farm in N. Jersey, another, one on Staten Island, and the others, extensive possessions in Ohio. The individual who makes the disclosures has been bro't to New York, and is in custody. And, though the criminal offence has become outlawed, as regards the two who live in the State of New York, an injunction has been obtained to prevent them from disposing of their property, and at the same time they have been committed to prison in an action of trover, where the damages have been laid at $20,000. Similar proceedings have been instituted in New Jersey and Ohio, which will probably result in securing to the Messrs. Allen the entire amount; principal and interest.

The parties implicated have all been heretofore convicted of criminal offences, although they have latterly, by withdrawing from their former vocations, obtained standing in society far beyond that to which they could ever have hoped to aspire.—It is said that the party arrested on Staten Island, now in the jail of the county, was, but a few days prior to his arrest, one of the grand jurors at the Circuit recently held in that county.

The celebrated mathematician, Hoene Wronski, has lately discovered a new system of steam engines, applicable to carriages on common roads, and all other locomotive instruments, such as ploughs, implements of war, etc., so vastly superior to any thing before known, that a French company is said to have bought the patent for 4 millions of francs.

We published, yesterday, an abstract of the chief articles of the late treaty between Turkey and Russia. It is quite evident that such a convention can never be sanctioned by the great Powers of Europe; and that it can never be allowed to be executed, should the emergency which it contemplates arise. The mutual guarantee of the tranquillity and possessions of the respective parties is a mere pretext for the invasion of Turkey whenever the Autocrat shall deem the season favorable. In this case Russia, which incurs no danger from the assistance of the Porte, would always have the road to Constantinople whenever a Pacha rebelled, or a province declared its independence. Both this article, and the supplementary provision for shutting the Dardanelles, contain such barefaced and impudent pretensions, that they must be scouted with contempt, or resisted with vigor, or be ordered to be formally cancelled. —London Times, Oct. 18.

Delaware and Raritan Canal.—A number of gentlemen made a trip upon this splendid canal last Thursday, from this place to Kingston, a distance of fifteen miles, in a barge, in about four hours; the water being, on a true level of the canal, about three feet, having been let in from Stony Brook, and other streams. The barge was drawn by two horses, and the people on the line cheered as she passed. Many fences and temporary passages across the canal had to be removed, which delayed their progress—but at times, they traveled at the rate of seven miles the hour. The whole line of canal, from Trenton to New Brunswick, will be completed early in the spring, and opened for sloop navigation. It will then be one of the most noble and useful works of art in the world; and altogether worthy of the state which it will enrich and adorn.—Trenton Emporium, Nov. 20.

Loss of the Porpoise!—It appears, from the Vera Cruz papers, that the United States schooner Porpoise, bound from Campeachy to that place, got upon the reefs of Anton Lizardo, about 25 miles S. E. of Vera Cruz, on the night of the 1st instant, and a letter from the American Consul adds, that she would be TOTALLY LOST. All hands safe. The Porpoise was built at Portsmouth, in 1820, and carried 12 guns. She was the oldest schooner in the service.—Balt. Amer., Dec. 2.

Warren Convention.—The Report of the Committee appointed by the late Convention at Warren, to examine the proposed routs of communication between the Great Canals of Pennsylvania and Ohio, will be found in this paper. It deserves an attentive perusal, as well for the importance of the subject matter, as the respectability of the source from which it emanates. We are gratified also, to perceive that it more than sustains the confident assertion which we have ventured to make, as to the value of the proposed improvement to the commercial prosperity of Philadelphia, and to the Canal revenue of the State.

We spoke heretofore from a general knowledge of the Country, and of the currents in which our trade with the proper facilities would naturally flow. We can now repeat these assertions on the highest personal authority, and sustain them by reference to unquestionable facts. It is sincerely to be hoped, that the sentiments and the reasoning of this interesting report will meet in Philadelphia with universal acceptation, and that the feeling so happily aroused a few weeks ago in favor of this great project, will grow stronger as the demonstration of its advantages becomes more conclusive.—Com. Herald, Dec. 3.

Derangement of the Memory.—There is an oblivion of names and vocables, and a substitution of a word no ways related to them. Thus I knew a gentleman, afflicted with this disease, who in calling for a knife, asked for a bushel of wheat.

There is an oblivion of the names of substances in a vernacular language, and a facility of calling them by their proper names in a dead, or foreign language. Of this Wepfer relates three instances. They were all Germans, and yet they called the objects around them only by Latin names. Dr. Johnson, when dying, forgot the words of the Lord's prayer in English, but attempted to repeat them in Latin. Delirious persons, from this disease in the memory, often address their physicians in Latin, or in a foreign language.

There is an oblivion of all foreign and aequired languages, and a recollection only of a vernacular language. Dr. Scandella, an ingenious Italian, who visited this country, a few years ago, was master of the Italian, French, and English languages. In the beginning of the yellow fever, which terminated his life, in the city of N. York, in the autumn of 1798, he spoke English only; in the middle of his disease, he spoke French only and the language of his native country.

There is an oblivion of the sound of words, but not of the letters which compose them. I have heard of a clergyman in Newburyport, who, in conversing with his neighbors, made it a practice to spell every word that he employed to convey his ideas to them.

There is an oblivion of the mode of spelling the most familiar words. I once met with it as a premonitory symptom of palsy. It occurs in old people, and extends to an inability, in some instances, to remember any more of their names than their initial letters. I once saw a will subscribed in this manner, by a man, in the eightieth year of his age, who, during his life, always wrote a neat and legible hand.

There is an oblivion of the qualities or numbers of the most familiar objects. I know a man in this city, who has never been able to remember the difference between a jug and a pitcher.—Rush on the Mind.

Paris papers to the 24th Oct. have been received at New York. We copy the principal extracts furnished by the editors of that city. We have the Journal des Debats and Galignani's Messenger to the 23d Oct. The Debats of the 22d mentions that it was doubted whether Don Carlos had entered Spain at all. That paper thinks that the triumph of the Queen of Spain will induce gradually a great political and social reform. The Journal de Paris, of the 22d, has this paragraph:

"A private letter from Bayonne states that according to intelligence from Madrid, received through Arragon, the Queen had positively acknowledged Donna Maria, and broken off all relations with Don Miguel. The Captain General of Arragon, who transmitted this news, announced, moreover, that his province was in a satisfactory state, and gave no apprehension."

This recognition of Donna Maria is stated from other sources, but needs confirmation.—Queen Isabella herself must feel a particular sympathy for the cause of the Portuguese princess.—Nat. Gaz. Dec. 2.

In the late attack of the Globe upon Mr. Duane, the "refractory subordinate," occurs the following passage:

"On coming into office, he (Mr. Duane) found that the President had already required, from the members of the Cabinet, written opinions upon the subject; that three members, viz: the Secretary of the Navy, the Post Master General, and the Attorney General, had given opinions favorable to the removal, and that only one member had given a written opinion against it. There were, therefore, three opinions in favor of the removal, and only one against it. The President and the three in favor of the removal, constituted a majority of four to one.—Another member of the Cabinet, who gave no written opinion, although somewhat disinclined to the measure, assured the President of his support if resolved on by him."

It was stated at the time the deposits were removed, and not contradicted, that Gov. CASS was opposed to their removal, but gave no written opinion on the subject—a non committal course, very unlike that which he pursued at Detroit. His conduct at the latter place, and afterwards, until he mounted that "bad eminence" which he now occupies, secured for him the admiration of the whole country.

He was regarded as a gentleman, an honest man, a wise statesman, an accomplished scholar. Very many looked forward with the hope, which I am unwilling to abandon, that he would be the immediate successor of the present Chief Magistrate. I thought you, Mr. Editor, were wrong, some weeks ago, in pronouncing him to be "pliant;" but if the allusions in the extract above quoted from the Globe refer to him, you are more than justified. I beg to ask of you if you know—and, if you do not, then of the Globe—whether it be true of Gov. Cass, that he did so basely truckle to power, and whether his "disinclination to the measure" was expressed with the "bated breath" and in "the bondsman's key," implied by the language of the Globe. S.

We fear that in this instance the Globe speaks truth.—Ed. N. Y. American.

ON THE PROXIMATE CAUSES OF WINDS AND STORMS.—The four following propositions may be regarded as statements of general facts, which have been sufficiently established by numerous observations in various parts of the world.

1st. That part of the great ocean which lies between the thirtieth parallel of latitude on both sides of the equator is constantly swept by a wind varying but a few points from the east.

2d. Between the latitudes of 30 and 60 degrees in both the northern hemispheres, westerly winds predominate over those from the east quarter, in a ratio probably somewhat greater than that of three to two.

3d. There is in all latitudes (a few trades of limited extent where local causes have a decided effect excepted) a predominance of winds blowing from the poles towards the equator, over those moving in the opposite direction, but this predominance is not so well marked and decided as that of the westerly over the easterly winds, between the latitudes of 30 and 60 degrees.

4th. During the warm weather within the temperate, and all seasons within the limits of the torrid zone, the fall of rain is often accompanied by lightning, thunder, and violent winds, constituting what is eommonly called a thunder storm.—Thunder storms generally commence between mid day and sun set, and move from west to east. —Prof. Mitchell.

SOLITUDE.

Oh, when this strange and varying life
By sorrow is imbued,
How sweet it is to quit its strife,
And fly to solitude—
To pace the forest's lonely way,
To breathe the mountain air,
Or loiter o'er the winding bay,
When the sea breaze is there.

There is an iris o'er the storm,
A flower amid the wild,
Like heavenly hope, or some fair form,
That on life's pathway smiled;
And nature's charms, I deem, still may
Sweet peace of mind restore,
To those who coldly turn away
From the dull pedant's lore.

There's music in the distant bell,
Though none when it be nigh;
We are apart, it seems to tell,
From that hypocrisy,
Which in life's crowded, dusty path,
Is ever round us still—
More baneful than the tempest's wrath,
Or tyrant's angry will.

The injured, even, may forget
Their sense of hate, or wrong,
To mark the sun in beauty set,
Or hear the wild bird's song;
Whilst, in that sweet, though lonely hour,
Some dream, that late seem'd vain,
Freed from the world's malignant power,
May charm the mind again.

THE NEWSPAPER.

I come! and light is on my brow,
And power is in my arm!
I come! oppression's surest bane,
And freedom's sweetest charm.

I come! the captive's galling bonds
Dissolve before my ire;
And nations deep in darkness sunk
Are lighted by my fire.

I come! the pure and balmy air
Of liberty I breathe;
For all who follow in my path
Bright freedom's crown I wreathe.

I come! and melt the fettered land,
As sunbeams melt the snow;
And gentle streams of freedom then
Throughout her borders flow.

I come! the widow's heart is glad—
Lone orphans now rejoice;
Anp praise the God who granted them
So powerful a voice!

Through me they speak!—all wrongs and ills
Must then be heard—redressed!
For where I go hope follows me,
And fills each vot'ry's breast!

A TANYARD FOR RENT.

THE subscriber will rent his Tanyard, &c., in the borough of Frankstown, Huntingdon county, Penna., and give possession in any time after the first of April next. As it is presumed the renter will wish to view the premises before renting, it is deemed unnecessary to give any thing like a minute description of the property. Suffice it to say, that it is convenient, in all respects, with a comfortable dwelling house, garden, outhouses, barn, &c., attached, all in good order; situated immediately on the Pennsylvania canal, and on the great northern turnpike road from Harrisburgh to Pittsburgh, and in a wealthy part of the country; five hundred hides can conveniently be manufactured annually—and from the facility of transportation to and from the city of Philadelphia; I might add, that few places hold out greater inducements to a man of industry and enterprize. It will be rented for a term of years.

FAIRBANK'S PLATFORM SCALES.

THESE scales are constructed upon an improved principle; are fitted up with great care by the manufacturers, and warranted to weigh with accuracy from half a pound to 12,000. Being placed in, and forming part of, the floor, the process of weighing is performed with ease and facility, while the space they occupy may be improved as a passage way or for other purposes.

The construction of these scales is such that they are little liable to derangement of wear, and their perfect operation will be guaranteed for any reasonable length of time.

The usual objection, that a new method of weighing cannot be safely entrusted to unskilful hands, is obviated by the use of the improved BALANCE, concerning which are the following remarks in the Journal of the Franklin Institute, of the state of Pennsylvania, for the promotion of the Mechanic Arts, for June, 1833. (Edited by Thos. P. Jones, M. D., late Superintendent of the Patent Office, at Washington, Professor of Mechanics in the Franklin Institute, &c.

"The Messrs. Fairbanks, some time since, obtained a patent for a Platform Weighing Machine, and this mode of adjuating and graduating the Beam of the Balance, and the weights, was devised by them with a view to its employment with the before mentioned machine. We have had an opportunity of examining one of their balances, and have been much pleased with it: this examination, however, was not necessary to the conviction that it possesses a just claim to the character of a real improvement, the whole arrangement being so simple as to enable any person to perceive that it is well adapted to the purpose contemplated, that of facilitating the business of weighing, and more especially of heavy articles."

The subscriber, as Agent, will receive orders for the above Scales, which will be made in this city to order. They can be seen at his Warehouse, No. 84, Front street.

Nov. 8, 1833. MOSES ATWOOD.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

THE Subscribers, Trustees of the New Philadelphia Society, at Phillipsburgh, Beaver county, Pennsylvania, offer for sale the following property, to wit:

1	tract of land	containing	330 acres
1	do	do	330
1	do	do	67
1	do	do	7
1	do	do	40
	other lots, containing about		6

The above lands lie in one body, fronting about two miles upon the Ohio river—immediately opposite the mouth of Big Beaver creek, and the Beaver Division of the Pennsylvania Canal. The land is rich, and a part of it under a high state of cultivation—its location pleasant and healthy. The improvements upon the same are valuable, including the town of Phillipsburgh, late the residence of Count Leon, and the New Philadelphia Society. The town contains about 40 Dwelling Houses, now in order; some of them brick houses and two stories high. A large and spacious Hotel, a Store house, Church, a number of Shops, for mechanics, Stables, Barns, and other out houses. Also, two large new buildings, lately erected, but not yet finished, one of brick, the other of frame (the latter suitable for a manufactory) a very extensive public garden, and also fruit trees of various kinds. The property has also attached to it the right of a ferry across the Ohio, which is valuable, and becoming more so every day.

The above property is situated in the midst of a wealthy and prosperous country, distant about 28 miles below Pittsburgh, and one mile from Beaver, the seat of justice for Beaver county---and having a view for many miles up and down the Ohio, and of the country to a great distance around.

The subscribers are confident in saying that few situations could be found, presenting greater facilities to the farmer, mechanic, the manufacturer, and others--- a soil rich and productive---the neighborhood abounding in coal---well timbered and watered, and, by means of the Pennsylvania Canal, and steamboat navigation, a cheap and ready conveyance to market, and a communication with other places is ensured.

The property is susceptible of divisions into farms, or for the location of new towns, or for the extension of the present one.

Should it not be sold on or before the first day of January next, it will then be offered at public sale, upon the premises, to the highest and best bidder.

It will be sold in a body, or in parcels, to suit purchasers.

Terms of sale will be reasonable.

Information can be had by enquiring of the subscribers, two of whom live in the neighborhood, and one on the premises.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S

☞WELCH MEDICAMENTUM☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

UTICA, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer s vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S

COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes giving temporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradully increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

TYPE FOUNDRY.

HAVING purchased of Mr. Richard Ronaldson, his long established and very extensive Type Foundry, the subscribers have formed a co-partnership for the purpose of continuing said business, and for the convenience of their friends and patrons, have removed their establishment to a more central part of the city. As it is their intention to keep on hand a good assortment of the best type, and to make such additions and improvements as the taste of the trade and the wants of the country require, they flatter themselves that this establishment will merit a large share of patronage. They have now several founts on hand, which can be furnished at a few hours' notice, and are prepared to make founts of all weights and sizes, from Pearl to 22 lines Pica, including a variety of Ornamental Letter. Their assortment of Cuts, Dashes, Brass Rule, and other Ornaments, will be found to be very extensive, of which specimens will be forwarded to Printers as soon as they can be prepared.

Printing Presses of every description, Printing Ink of the most approved qualities, Composing Sticks, Brass and Common Galleys, Chases, Imposing Stones, Cases, Paper and Press Boards, Standing Presses, Furniture, together with a complete assortment of all articles used in a Printing Office, will be kept constantly on hand.

Small founts, suitable for Book Binders, in great variety, may be had when called for.

Orders from all parts in the Union will be promptly and most carefully attended to, and particularly in supplying sorts for all founts furnished by their predecessors, Binny & Ronaldson, and Richard Ronaldson.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. That part of Maryland lying west of the Blue Ridge; all that part of Virginia lying west of the Blue Ridge, except the county of Ohio. The whole of the state of Ohio except the counties of Hamilton, Butler, and Montgomery. The whole of the state of Kentucky, except the counties of Jefferson, Boone, Oldham, Gallatin, and Campbell. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.

TRAVELLERS.

THE LINE OF STAGES between Chambersburgh and Baltimore, on the Somerset and Mountpleasant route, has been doubled, and now runs DAILY, (Mondays excepted,) leaving Chambersburgh at day-light in the morning, and arriving in Baltimore, early the same evening.

Passengers reach Philadelphia, in this way, the second afternoon, from Chambersburgh, without the loss of any rest; taking the splendid STEAM BOAT LINES, which set out at 6 o'clock in the morning, [via CHESAPEAKE AND DELAWARE CANAL, a work well worth the trip to see.]

REESIDE, Owner.

In all cases where the passengers desire to reach Baltimore in time for the 5 o'clock steam-boat to Philadelphia, they can do so by leaving Chambersburgh at one o'clock in the morning, or immediately after the arrival of the Western Mail Stage. In this way, they arrive in Philadelphia, by eight o'clock the second morning, from Chambersburgh.

☞When a load offers, the stage will run on Mondays. April 23, 1830.—tf.
